

REMOTE INTERNET ACCESS

The Internet brings the world to your computer – but only if you can access it! Along with your high-speed Internet service, NuVox offers Remote Internet Access via Dial-Up service for when you are away from the office or traveling.

With a lengthy list of features and benefits, NuVox is your clear choice for dial-up Internet connectivity.

Features and Advantages of Remote Internet Access

- ▶ Unlike other ISPs, NuVox owns our own network and phone switch. This gives us the ability to add capacity at any time, making busy signals virtually non-existent.
- ▶ With hundreds of points of presence (POPs) and local numbers across each region, NuVox Remote Internet Access service lets you access the web and check your email even when you're away from the office. We also offer nationwide access via a toll-free number, which allows you to access the Internet while you are traveling.

With NuVox Remote Internet access, you get all the benefits of web access, plus in-house technical support and access to the NuVox Support Center, our customer service portal site, all for one low monthly fee.

For more information on how Remote Internet Access can work for your business, contact your NuVox Representative.

Available in selected NuVox markets.